Dear Harry:

Dr. Lieu's article on Industrial Development in Communist China, enclosed with your letter of 14 April 1955, confirms our previous impression of his work -- that he has started out to prove a point and has been highly selective as well as tendentious in his interpretation of evidence to support his position. It seems hardly worth while to comment on the article in any detail. Since Dr. Lieu has chosen to fight the cold war on the propaganda front over matters of economic data, he is welcome to any satisfaction he can derive from his joists with windmills.

I'm sure you will enjoy your sojourn in Europe. I look forward to reading your reports and discussing them with you on your return.

With warm personal regards,

Sincerely,

STATINTL
